Marie LeBaron's book "Make and Takes for Kids: 50 Crafts Throughout the Year" (Wiley) arrived and I devoured it cover-to-cover.Marie LeBaron uses her background in early childhood development and creative edge to develop kid-friendly projects. But what sets this book apart is the fact that she outlines learning objectives and skills associated with the projects. The creative process is the focus for the kids, not necessarily the final project. However, if you're looking for inspiration to make new things to sell, this is not your book - personal use only.The projects are organized by months with four projects per month, some have five. The colorful book is beautifully layed out. And, like a good educator, LeBaron gives a nice overview (at the beginning of the book) of basic supplies needed, which you probably have lying around in your house or they're easily found at a craft supply support. The "simple instructions" for seasonal and holiday creations, edible and decorative, are exactly spot-on.(My original review is at [...])0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Teaching parents to make craft projects with kidsBy

Michael L. Thomas Great book for parents. Entertain educate kids by creating crafts, which is better than purchased crafts or computer games 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Robert Paige Great for KUDS!

50 seasonal projects to make with kids Highlighting the best of each month of the year, Make and Takes for Kids offers 50 projects to make with kids, each centered around an upcoming holiday or season. The ideas are unique and simple to produce, and each project is thoughtfully constructed and designed to create an ideal environment and setting for crafting. Each craft requires little preparation, few supplies, and almost everything can be readily found at home or at a local craft supply store. Crafting isn't just playtime; there's a purpose to all the gluing, cutting, and coloring. Children are learning hand-eye coordination, fine motor skills, problem solving, math, teamwork, and individual expression. They are exercising creativity and building their imaginations. Make and Takes for Kids highlights the learning objectives and skills that children will attain as they complete each craft. Parents learn the benefits of spending time to create and craft with their children, and see the growth and creativity that children can experience while crafting. 50 projects to make crafts and food with kids, from a Marshmallow Graham Cracker Snowman and Flower Garden Cupcakes to an Egg Carton Octopus and Rainbow Ring Bottle Toss Ten activities are included that can be crafted with recycled materials, making the crafts easy to produce as well as budget-friendly. Projects demonstrate that you don't have to buy expensive supplies or make elaborate activities to have fun crafting and creating. If you're a mom, teacher, or caregiver looking to enhance the time and quality spent with young children, Make and Takes For Kids makes it easy to have fun crafting with kids.
