Surprisingly inspiring coloring book!By Amanda RowanAlthough I think the target audience is young children, I think this is especially good as a adolescent to adult coloring book. My four-year-old is just starting to get into coloring and immediately wanted to try out this book when we got it, but after glancing through it, I asked him to forbear. I think I'd like to do the coloring myself and repeat the affirmations for my own benefit! The art is a little more geometric and appealing to children who already are experienced with coloring and I'm not sure how long it would engage my son's interest because he's still pretty amateur . . . I think some more word art with the actual text on the left pages would make this even better. It's not exactly a book in the sense that it doesn't have a cohesive narrative--it's more of a collection of two-sided pages, a brief text page to accompany a drawing of some sort. I love the text component, though! Most coloring books are not very developed in this way, and I love all the thoughtful text accompaniments to the illustration. Some of them are downright insightful! It's hard to choose, but I think my favorite is the pizza page. "Just like pizza, we are more complete when we're around the people who love us and help us."

A motivational coloring book for kids! Pages with phrases like 'Dream Big' and 'Go Get 'Em, Tiger' subtly encourage children while they enjoy coloring in the words, as well as fun images that evoke joy and patterned pages to help calm and relax. Additional motivational messages opposite the coloring page help parents talk to their children about what they are coloring, helping to internalize the messages. Adults and children alike will love these coloring pages, as they are hand-drawn with beautiful detail. The book is formatted as 8" x 10" pages, perfect to be torn out and hung around the house for repetitive inspiration!
